Vineyard Locations and AVA's : Balcom & Moe Vineyard (Columbia Valley), Van Batavia Vineyard (Columbia Valley), Lonesome Spring Ranch (Yakima Valley), Arete Vineyard (Columbia Valley), Gunkel Vineyard (Columbia Valley, Eastern Columbia River Gorge), Wahluke Slope Vineyard (Wahluke Slope), Pontin Del Roza Vineyard (Yakima Valley)

2016 Harvest Report: Coming off 2015, our hottest (and earliest) harvest on record, we were prepared for another year of record-breaking temps, off-the-chart acids, and fruit arriving on our crush pad well before Labor Day. A record early bud break was followed by a warmish spring which caused early leaf and shoot development. May and June only reassured this line of thinking. It was hot. The grapes were ripening at a worrisome rate- the alcohol was going to be high and we were concerned about getting the acidity we're so used to in the Columbia Valley... in other words, 2016 was shaping up to be a year that broke all the records.

Then, July happened. Or, we suppose, didn't happen. It was a perfect example of that very interesting bit of life in which as soon as you think you know what's going on, it manifests into something entirely different. In many areas, July was the hottest month the earth has seen in modern times... but in Washington, in our vineyards... it was relatively cool.

Growth was moderated and slowed, ripening halted while the sugars and acids started to balance. August began with lamb-like intensity, coaxing along the grapes into an early- but not outrageous- start to harvest.

We believe the 2016 vintage will give us generous whites of substantial body and rich reds in the intense and extracted direction.

wine pH: 3.48 | Total acidity: .7 | Residual Sugar: | .3% Alcohol: 12.9%

Malolactic status: Negative

Winemaking: Cool fermented in stainless to "dryness"

Winemaker's Comments: Mouthwatering raspberry, orange and pomegranate flavors are balanced by the perfect amount of juicy acidity. Dry, tangy and vibrant! Just a touch of lime and mineral notes checks in on the long finish. Taste for yourself why Barnard Griffin Roses have won eleven Best of Class and numerous gold awards at prestigious wine competitions since our first Rose release in 2002.
