QUALITY
CONSISTENCY
AND CHARACTER

A PROUD HERITAGE OF AWARD-WINNING FAMILY WINEMAKING IN THE COLUMBIA VALLEY FOR FORTY YEARS

A commitment to quality, passed from generation to generation.

Situated in the rain shadow of the Cascade Mountains, the Columbia Valley accounts for 99 percent of viniferous acreage in Washington. The rainshadow, along with the cataclysmic events of the Missoula Floods at the end of the last ice age, contribute to the diversity of soil in the Columbia Valley. Most sites are situated below floodwater, where soil is sandy with loess over basalt, creating well aerated soil ideal for viticulture. The Columbia Valley has warm, dry temperatures and ample sunlight allowing for a high amount of control in grape development for both viticulturists and winemakers.

BARNARD GRIFFIN HAS PIONEERED QUALITY WINE
PRODUCTION IN WASHINGTON
STATE SINCE 1983.

Helmed by Rob Griffin as head winemaker and his wife Deborah Barnard as co-owner, Barnard Griffin was, at its inception, a family operation; this tradition continues today with their daughter, Megan Hughes, following in Rob's footsteps as the Second Generation Winemaker and Enologist.

The Barnard Griffin story centers around Rob and Deborah's lifelong dream to make world-class wines on their terms, with a focus on quality, consistency, and character.

NEW! BARNARD GRIFFIN CANS

Our intent has always been to craft premium quality wines that were accessible, which in a somewhat fun pivot, brings us to our canned wine.

The C'EST le VIN line is a riff on our Signature Series, in playful, portable packaging that can go anywhere at any time. The pool, on the river, camping; these wines are quaffable and quite convenient.
